

El Dorado County may change mental health commission

It's possible the South Lake Tahoe Mental Health Commission will be abolished.

On Feb. 26 at 5pm the county commission may vote on consolidating the commission into one entity. This could mean the South Shore would have less of a say.

There is a movement to make the appointment an at-large countywide group of mental health commissioners. It was this way years ago, but was changed so Tahoe could have a say in what goes on with its patients.
