

Sandoval: ‘We can’t have students living in fear’

By Siobhan McAndrew, Reno Gazette-Journal

Gov. Brian Sandoval said he will bring together school superintendents across the state to talk about safety.

His announcement Tuesday comes after]Sandoval was at a meeting with the National Governors Association and President Trump on Monday.

He told the group that the issue of the day is school safety and public safety, and shared that he was the parent of a middle school student where there was a recent rumor of a school threat.

Read the whole story